

HOT News for Shutdown Furlough

The House has just passed a "clean" continuing resolution that keeps the government funded through Friday, December 11. The Senate passed it earlier today. The White House has indicated their support of this bill and so we expect the President to sign it tonight.

It appears that our shutdown crisis has been averted for now. Everyone should report to work tomorrow, October 1, as they normally would.